It's not just a city for me, it's an emotion

Duhita Pawar, BPharma student

My experience in Mumbai has been truly magical. It has made me an independent woman who does not shy away from going after her dreams. I enjoy the company of strange faces that greet me everyday when I travel in local trains. The best part about Mumbai is the street food and the local restaurants, which offer a variety of delectable cuisines — Goan, Kashmiri, South Indian, and Hyderabadi, to name a few. The whole vibe of the city is unique to it. It is a compact mixture of modernity and tradition. I feel there is something extremely desirable about the city that urges visitors to come back again and again. Whether you drive a luxury car or travel by local trains, equality is the way of life here. Mumbai is not just a normal city for me, Mumbai is an emotion, and I'm extremely proud to be a Mumbaikar.
